

The background of the entire advertisement is a photograph of a woman with long, light brown hair holding a baby. The woman is looking at the baby with a gentle expression. The baby is wearing a white shirt and has a small, faint tattoo on its chest. The woman has a tattoo on her shoulder that reads 'XXII VI XVII'. The scene is set outdoors with green foliage in the background.

“I chose to get vaccinated to keep my family safe.”

Here to protect you and your baby

For trusted advice about vaccinations in pregnancy, ask your midwife.

HERE

TO

HELP